III. FACTS

13. On 2007, plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López began working as a Forensic Science Investigator (Scientist) with the Forensic Sciences Institute (Instituto de Ciencias Forenses) today the Forensic Science Bureau (Negociado de Ciencias Forense).

14. He became full time regular/permanent employee on 2007.

15. Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López' performance was outstanding/excellent without any reprimand neither admonishment. His performance was praised and recognized by his supervisors and the Agency with several awards and commendations.

16. On or around 2017, a serious of adverse personnel action were taken against plaintiff by his next level supervisor Wanda Candelaria-Arocho after he detected breaches in the chain of custody and improper release of criminal evidence (in a murder case). The breaches and illegal handling of evidence and information was directed and provided to defense attorneys and counsels by individuals working at the Forensic Sciences Institute (Instituto de Ciencias Forenses).

17. On April 6, 2017, Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López was a Forensic Crime Scene Investigator (CSI) on duty at the Forensic Science Bureau basement garage area. A piece of evidence was under his custody waiting to be returned to an agent of the Puerto Rico Police (PPR), Homicide Department. It was vehicle (car) involved in a murder, that plaintiff examined and analyzed for the criminal case. He set a meeting with the agent of the PPR for the pick-up/return of the evidence.

18. Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López briefly went to his office (Forensic Science Bureau basement indoor area) for lunch break. After he finished with my lunch brake plaintiff contacted the security personnel in order to request them to immediately inform him the arrival of a government tow truck scheduled for the pick-up of the evidence (car) with agent (PPR) in charge of the investigation. It is the proper agency regulation and the rules of criminal procedures on chain of custody.

19. Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López was surprise, the security officer told him that the car was already picked-up and he could not recalled if it was picked-up by a private tow truck neither who came with the tow truck. No information was recorded, no receipt was prepared, no even any identification information was requested.

20. Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López immediately called the agent and told him that he did not sign the chain of custody documents (Forensic Science Bureau, Form ICF 0410-INV) as required by regulation. The agent returned to the Forensic Science Bureau and filled out and signed the paperwork. Later the agent then told plaintiff that no one in the agency asked him anything when he entered the Forensic Science Bureau and picked up the car and left.

21. Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López reported the incident to Wanda Candelaria, Director of Forensic Investigators. She seems surprise with the situation. She asked who was the security officer responsible for the incident and plaintiff replied Americo Varcarcel. Americo Varcarcel was a close friend of Wanda Candelaria. After finding out about Varcarcel, Candelaria questioned plaintiff's integrity and implying that he was lying, finally blame him for the incident.

22. The next day plaintiff's immediate supervisor David Betancourt summoned him to Wanda Candelaria's office.

23. He was summoned to the office of co-defendant Wanda Candelaria-Arocho who was the director of forensic investigations section of the Forensic Science Bureau, his next level supervisor. In front of plaintiff's supervisor, she started yelling and threatening plaintiff; she illegally ordered plaintiff's arrest, later she illegally and without any cause, ordered and initiated a criminal investigation against plaintiff at the Forensic Science Bureau. All employees were armed during the incident at co-defendant's office.

24. Wanda Candelaria reacted in a very aggressive manner toward him; including yelling at him, hitting her desk with both hands, pointing at his face with her hands, etc. Due to Canderaria's aggressive and irrational behavior, for plaintiff's protection, he was removed from her office by Betancourt. Wanda Candelaria was carrying a firearm at the time; an automatic pistol Glock 40. Plaintiff felt threaten and thought at his life was in danger.

25. After plaintiff was moved out of Wanda Candelaria's office, she started to yell and to scream at closed door to David Betancourt. Ms. Candelaria left the office and plaintiff with his co-workers walked to the elevator. They were waiting at the elevator entrance when Wanda Candelaria approached them and tried to hit the plaintiff with her fist. She was detained by Gisel Rivera, another forensic investigator.

26. The situation escalade after plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López was a key witness and testified in the investigation on the wrongful management of the cadavers in the Forensic Science Bureau after Hurricane Maria.

27. Co-defendant Monica Menendez was Deputy Director(Deputy Commissioner) of the Forensic Science Bureau, she illegally and without any cause, dismissed (terminated/fired) plaintiff from his job at the Forensic Science Bureau.

28. Co-defendant Hector Figueroa was an special aid to Monica Menendez, Deputy Director (Deputy Commissioner), he illegally and without any cause, ordered and initiated a criminal investigation against plaintiff at the Forensic Science Bureau.

29. On February 2019, Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López was referred to La Oficina del Contralor, La Oficina de Etica Gubernamental and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Justice Department (Prosecutor Zumaeta) for criminal investigations & prosecution. Alice Morales of the Departamento de Seguridad Publica of Puerto Rico (DSP) also requested the Forensic Science Bureau to reopen the investigation initiated on 2018. Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López saw the related referral documents in the then Commissioner's Office (Dr. Luz Silva), who showed him the documents.

30. Plaintiff testified in criminal investigations before the Puerto Rico Department of Justice and in a legislative inquiry (private) before the Puerto Rico House of Representative.

31. A change of leadership occurred at the Forensic Science Bureau. The dismissal of plaintiff was reversed without any explanation.

32. Dr German [Carlos] Chavez was Director (Commissioner) of the Forensic Science Bureau, he illegally and without any cause, ordered and initiated a second criminal investigation against plaintiff at the Forensic Science Bureau.

33. A third change of leadership occurred at the Forensic Science Bureau.

34. Plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López even testified in a public hearing (public) before the Puerto Rico House of Representative after he was summoned. The local, national and international news covered his testimony.

35. Co-defendant Dr. Beatriz Zayas was Director (Commissioner) of the Forensic Science Bureau, she illegally, intentionally and with malice, started a campaign of defamation (libel and slander) against plaintiff. She orally and in written communication made false statements that unjustly harms plaintiff's reputation. Co-defendant Zayas even conducted a press conference to defame plaintiff publicly. Later she wrote several press releases defaming plaintiff again.

36. Co-defendant Beatriz Zayaz defamed plaintiff publicly; she said in a radio program that "Hay unos empleados internos... Sr. Carlos Velez y Sr. Edgardo Vera... ellos son informantes internos y cooperan llevando información que es atractiva para llamar la atención de ciencias forenses ... estan utilizando a ciencias forenses para llamar la atención con una agenda política, clara y definida...". Co-defendant Beatriz Zayaz said that plaintiff had an agenda against her, politically motivated and clearly implying that he sneaked information (confidential and illegal) of the agency to the public to harm her politically. As an investigative branch of the criminal legal system of Puerto Rico, the Forensic Science Bureau procedures and investigations are confidential and cannot be disclosed to the public by law. As a government employee, Plaintiff cannot be providing information or releasing information of the Forensic Science Bureau procedures and investigations to the public for political purpose, much less be involved in political campaigns nor political "agendas". Co-defendant Beatriz Zayaz provided false information against plaintiff Edgardo L. Vera-López, clearly implying and implicating him in serious violation of criminal, ethical, and civil laws.

37. Including is a link of one of the occasions that plaintiff's honor and reputation suffered defamation publicly by co-defendant Beatriz Zayaz, via internet, video and Radio WKAQ 580 on WKAQ Temprano en la Mañana - Beatriz Zayaz, September 9, 2019. The link is:
